"Can we do any less in the discipline of study and preparation to finish the task to which God has called us? The study of God is the highest science, the loftiest pursuit, and the mightiest discipline. Its rewards are immeasurable: "Blessed are those who keep his statutes and seek him with all their heart. . . . Great peace have those who love your law, and nothing can make them stumble" (Psalms 119:2,165)."

Might we sit still long enough to take in what God has for us, for that is the greatest investment we will ever make.
